

HIGH ALPHA RETAIL
FUND

MONTHLY REPORT

October 2019 Factsheet

Market Update

October saw gains for global equities amid signs of progress on a US-China trade deal while central banks remained supportive. Government bonds in general moved lower. The Federal Reserve lowered interest rates by 25 basis points, its third cut this year but signalled an intention to take a pause in the easing cycle.

US equities rallied. US-China trade negotiations saw the two sides agree on the outline of a potential mini trade deal. The gap between the temporary truce and deal is still significant and tensions between the two countries is never far away, especially leading into the US election year.

Eurozone equities posted gains. GDP growth data for Q3 defied recession worries, with the eurozone economy expanding by 0.2% quarter-on-quarter. German 10-year Bund yield hits 3-month high. In Europe, the ECB kept its policy rate unchanged at -0.50% but did reiterate that their quantitative easing program, worth purchases of 20 billion euros monthly, would begin in November.

The UK equity market provided a negative return over October, Sterling made gains against international currencies as the government negotiated a revised Withdrawal Agreement with the European Union. Parliament voted in favour of an early general election on 12 December.

Commodity returns were positive overall in October. Oil prices ended the month unchanged as rising U.S. inventories into month-end offset both optimism on trade and increased geopolitical tensions.

The U.S. dollar Index ended the month weaker down 2% as the Fed cut and risk sentiment improved following the temporary reprieve in U.S.-China tensions. Reflecting the dollar weakness and indications of a Brexit breakthrough, the euro strengthened 2%. British pound strengthened 5% as relief over no-deal Brexit fear evaporate.

Investment Manager Outlook Statement

Stuart McAuliffe, Portfolio Manager.

The fund is holding a levered position in Chinese technology stocks based on:

- Valuation
- Up trend in tech stocks globally
- Likely outcome to US/China Trade war.

Stocks in Asia have pulled back a few percent from highs, but the outlook is positive going into 2020 and we expect a positive year given fiscal and monetary policy loosening as the USA goes into a Presidential election year, normally a positive economic event

October 2019 Factsheet

Fund Objective

The Investment Manager will seek to provide investors with capital growth over the medium to long-term. The Fund will invest in a range of financial products that focus on global macroeconomics and, in holding both long and short positions, will seek absolute returns regardless of market direction. The Investment Manager's advantage lies in correct assessment of broad valuation measures, macroeconomic environment, sentiment and economic forecasting. The strategy aims to identify medium and long-term trends and trend shifts, but to also vary position size given short-term technical indicators including sentiment and momentum.

Fund Strategy

The Fund will invest in a range of financial products that focus on global macroeconomics.

The goal is to provide investors with exposure to global markets, where returns are not necessarily correlated to traditional ASX equity markets (which is where many listed investment companies focus their investment activities).

In holding both long and short positions, the Fund will seek absolute returns – that is, returns regardless of market direction.

The Fund has a focus on an actively managed portfolio of exchange traded futures and options, trading where the Investment Manager believes that significant valuation discrepancies exist between current trading prices and the underlying intrinsic value of the asset class.

The Fund may also invest directly in equities listed in Australia and offshore on leading exchanges, and can hold relatively large cash exposures. Derivatives may be used to leverage the Fund.

The Fund seeks to maintain a diversity of investments in deeply liquid markets, with the goal of reducing risk and volatility (or the variability of returns).

Investment Manager

John Bridgeman Limited (Investment Manager) has been appointed by the Responsible Entity for JB High Alpha Retail Fund to manage the Portfolio in accordance with the terms and conditions of the Investment Management Agreement and the PDS. The Investment Manager and its investment team have considerable experience in investment management across different geographies, sectors and industries. The Investment Manager operates a specialist investment management business, and is listed on the National Stock Exchange of Australia under the ticker "JBL".

Portfolio Manager

Stuart McAuliffe, Managing Director and Chief Investment Officer of John Bridgeman Limited, has primary responsibility for the investment decisions of the Investment Manager. He is supported by a team of investment professionals who have skills and expertise across Australian and global markets.
