

HIGH ALPHA RETAIL
FUND

MONTHLY REPORT

June 2020 Factsheet

Market Update

The market traded in a range in June, stuck in a tug of war between the bears and bulls. COVID hot spots, trade tension, and economic uncertainty kept a lid on gains, while scientific progress, liquidity, and positive economic surprises provided a floor. WHO says there are now 17 vaccine candidates in clinical evaluation. Scientific progress helps the market get comfortable despite poor company earnings, liquidity keeps the market elevated.

It's been a very strong quarter for equities and credit as central banks and governments provided enormous amounts of stimulus and economies continued their re-opening process. Despite the strong rebound in risk assets, traditional portfolio hedges such as government bonds and gold have held up well. US Treasuries are up about 9% year to date, while gold is up close to 18%.

As economies have started to re-open, economic data has shown signs of a sharp rebound. For example, US retail sales rose 17% month on month in May, while UK retail sales rebounded by 12%. While sales are still down 6% and 13% year on year respectively, the speed and magnitude of the bounce back is a clear positive.

However, some risks remain. First, the Federal Reserve and other central banks have been clear that they can only lend, not spend, and so won't necessarily be able to save companies that face solvency concerns, rather than just liquidity concerns. Some companies will therefore still face administration, and we have unfortunately already seen some examples this quarter.

In addition, the virus has not been fully contained, nor a vaccine approved. In the US, the number of new infections is rising again, while several emerging markets, including India and much of Latin America, have been unable to get the virus under control. Despite this risk around infection rates, US equities were up about 20% this quarter and emerging market equities were up 18%.

Political risks also remain, with the US election fast approaching, tensions between China and the rest of the world escalating and Brexit still unresolved. On a positive political note, the European Union has taken steps towards reducing the risk of a politically induced re-run of the European sovereign debt crisis. The proposed recovery fund would essentially provide support to some of the worst-affected countries, such as Italy and Spain, from countries such as Germany and France. European equities were up 15% this quarter.

Investment Manager Outlook Statement

Stuart McAuliffe, Portfolio Manager.

Stocks continue to be supported by lower rates and the Fed's corporate bond buying program but from here it gets more interesting. The bullish view on equities will continue if rates bottom and economic growth bounces. The US Dollar may finally top out soon, sending other major currencies higher and driving commodity prices and emerging markets.

MONTHLY REPORT

Fund Objective

The Investment Manager will seek to provide investors with capital growth over the medium to long-term. The Fund will invest in a range of financial products that focus on global macroeconomics and, in holding both long and short positions, will seek absolute returns regardless of market direction. The Investment Manager's advantage lies in correct assessment of broad valuation measures, macroeconomic environment, sentiment and economic forecasting. The strategy aims to identify medium and long-term trends and trend shifts, but to also vary position size given short-term technical indicators including sentiment and momentum.

Fund Strategy

The Fund will invest in a range of financial products that focus on global macroeconomics.

The goal is to provide investors with exposure to global markets, where returns are not necessarily correlated to traditional ASX equity markets (which is where many listed investment companies focus their investment activities).

In holding both long and short positions, the Fund will seek absolute returns – that is, returns regardless of market direction.

The Fund has a focus on an actively managed portfolio of exchange traded futures and options, trading where the Investment Manager believes that significant valuation discrepancies exist between current trading prices and the underlying intrinsic value of the asset class.

The Fund may also invest directly in equities listed in Australia and offshore on leading exchanges, and can hold relatively large cash exposures. Derivatives may be used to leverage the Fund.

The Fund seeks to maintain a diversity of investments in deeply liquid markets, with the goal of reducing risk and volatility (or the variability of returns).
